

I am a resident of the Denver, CO listening area. My family and friends are frequent listeners to K-LOVE on our local affiliate FM 91.1. We gain strength and encouragement from the music and programming on 91.1. If our station, 91.1, was to be taken off the air it would be a hardship for us in the community, because no other local stations have the same K-LOVE format or (frankly speaking) makes the positive impact on my family and friends that 91.1 does. It is my understanding that if the new broadcast service known as Low Power FM (LPFM) was expanded (i.e. LPFM transmissions would have priority over repeater service) in our broadcast area, we would lose our translator for 91.1 K-LOVE with this expansion. I believe that K-LOVE serves a greater public interest than any additional music stations formats might. In my informal count of FM music stations in the Denver area, (17) there are already duplicated music formats/types and any additional stations resulting from the LPFM expansion would only further add to the duplication of formats/styles of music. I feel that we in the Denver area have gained immeasurable encouragement and positive input to our lives from K-LOVE on 91.1 and our lives are richer for it. Finally, it would be a great injustice by the FCC to bring about this expansion in such a manner as to eliminate community building stations like 91.1. Thank you for considering my comments in your final decision.
